

“It’s a Matter of Principle”
Willie’s Place Theatre * Carl’s Corner, Texas
March 6th, 2010
1 PM to 5 PM CST

Sheriff Richard Mack is the former sheriff of Graham County, Arizona, and a long-time crusader for freedom and individual rights.

He believes that it is vital and urgent that we restore the Constitution as the supreme law of the land. In 1994 he filed a lawsuit challenging the Brady bill to stop the federal government from forcing another unfunded mandate down our throats and won a decision at the US Supreme Court on the issue of States' rights. He has traveled the country extensively and seen first hand the horrible side effects from politicians who have replaced our Constitution with their own political agendas and party platforms.

He lectures and gives seminars on constitutional issues relating to gun control, law enforcement, States' rights, the farce, otherwise known as the drug war, and the oath of office.

Speaking 1 PM to 2 PM

For Debra Medina, politics isn't about party, it's about the people represented by those elected to government office. Debra Medina is dedicated to put Texas back in the hands of Texans by leading the way to a return of constitutional government.

Debra Medina is dedicated to protecting the rights of individual Texans to Life, Liberty and Property through the abolition of the property tax and by asserting the Sovereignty of the State of Texas as guaranteed under the 10th Amendment of the US Constitution.

Speaking 3:30 PM to 5 PM

Tim Baldwin is an attorney who received his Juris Doctor degree from Cumberland School of Law at Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama. He is a former felony prosecutor for the Florida State Attorney's Office and now owns his own private law practice. He is author of a soon-to-be-published new book, entitled FREEDOM FOR A CHANGE. Tim is also one of America's foremost defenders of State sovereignty.

Tim lectures that, over the years, a political idea contrary to our original federal system was adopted—not through open discussion and consent, but by fraud and force. His position is that whatever the federal judiciary rules equate to the “supreme law of the land” and the states must comply therewith, regardless of whether the federal law usurps the power the states retained under the Constitution.

Speaking 2:15 PM to 3:15 PM

Emcee – Gerry Donaldson

Gerry Donaldson is a Constitutional Scholar and lecturer and is Internet Radio Host of “Our Constitution: Foundation and Principles.”
